

Each cognitive function symbolised by an emotion gets driven by a PID controller.
The PID controllers of a conscious realm are interconnected into a nexus to allow emotions to shift as new input is fed into the complete control system.

